

How to Shorten the New Booking Form

Team note: the current form is long because client, location, payment, revenue model, services, reminder, and notes are all on one page. Below are 3 options to make booking creation shorter and easier.

Why the form feels long today

Staff must scroll through many fields for a normal home booking. Most daily bookings only need: mobile → name → address → service → BHK → date/time → reference → Create. Extra fields (payment, revenue 40/60, reminder) can stay hidden or move to a second step.

Three options for the team

OPTION 1 3-Step Form (Wizard)

Instead of one long page, booking is split into 3 small screens.

- Step 1 — Client: mobile, name, address
- Step 2 — Service & date: pest, BHK, date, time, reference
- Step 3 — Optional: reminder, notes (can skip)
- Staff see less at once → feels faster and easier

Best for: Teams that create many bookings every day and want a modern, clear flow.

OPTION 2 Same Page, Hide Extra Sections

Keep one page, but hide rarely used parts under “Show more”.

- Always open: client, service, date, time, reference, Create
- Collapsed by default: Revenue Model (40/60), payment status/mode, reminder, extra notes
- Fastest to build — same page, less scrolling, minimal retraining

Best for: Quick fix this week with low change for the team.

OPTION 3 Quick Book + Advanced Book

Two buttons when creating a booking — simple vs full form.

- Quick Book (~8 fields): mobile, service, BHK, address, date, time, reference
- Advanced Book: full form for society, hotel, multi-pest, AMC, special cases
- Most staff use Quick Book; managers use Advanced when needed

Best for: Mixed team — call centre / front desk + managers.

Simple comparison

Option	Idea	Best for
1 — Wizard	3 short steps	Less confusion, modern feel
2 — Collapse	Hide extra sections	Quick fix, minimal change
3 — Quick + Advanced	Simple vs full form	Call centre + managers

Suggestion

Recommended path: Start with Option 2 this week (hide revenue / payment / reminder). Later add Option 3 (Quick Book) or Option 1 (wizard) if the team still wants it shorter.
